Biografie

Starting life in a fortunate scenario I was taught to work hard to get what I wanted. I was taught to focus on the what it takes to get the outcome, not the journey you need to take to get there. I worked as a Garbage man, a labourer, a landscape gardener, among other things. Then studying Civil Engineering and Business created opportunities to advance in life. Lost my dad at a young age and had to go forward alone. Set up several successful international companies and transacted in 24 countries with over 26,000 clients. Value of transactions over $8billion. Reside in Sydney Australia married and 3 kids running an investment company.
