Biografie

Keynote Speaker | TV Host | Storyteller on Resilience & Human Potential

Karl Meesters is one of Belgium's most compelling keynote speakers—known for his authenticity, warmth and extraordinary life story. As the host of the award-winning VRT television series Niks te Zien (Nothing to See), Karl travels the world with well-known musicians, inviting them—and the audience—to experience life beyond sight.

Despite gradually losing his vision from the age of 20, Karl became Belgium's first visually impaired television host. In 2024, Niks te Zien (Nothing to See) received international recognition with a Golden Rose Award in London, one of the most prestigious prizes in television.

But Karl's impact goes far beyond television.

As a keynote speaker, Karl shares raw, honest and often humorous stories drawn from his personal and professional journey—living with blindness, becoming a father against all odds, surviving a life-threatening cancer diagnosis, and continually rebuilding his life and career. His talks challenge audiences to rethink limitations, resilience and what it truly means to live fully.

Karl's keynotes are:

- Deeply human and moving
- Uplifting, hopeful and inspiring
- Accessible, authentic and real
- Blended with humor, insight and perspective

With a background as a life coach and concert organiser, Karl connects effortlessly with diverse audiences—from leadership teams and organisations to conferences and public events. He doesn't speak about resilience—he embodies it.

Karl Meesters invites audiences to listen differently, look beyond limitations, and discover new possibilities—often where they least expect them.
